

Scenario:

You are a student at the amazing University of South Carolina and you have a busy schedule. You find yourself continuously on the move from class to class, and have trouble sitting down for lunch. You then must order online in advance at one of our specialized vending machines to get an on the go snack.

Task 1: Create a list or pick out several items you'd wish to order.

Task 2: Browse through your existing favorite picks or recommended and choose from them.

Task 3: You loved the current arrangement and choice of items that you've either favorited them or kept them in your favorite list. (Will be added later)

Notes:

Some changes that need to be added are an introduction of a cart for storing items. A better and more creative UI and an options screen for customizing the UI for easier access to favorite and recommended lists. Also the list of food or other items will be better shown with the lists of options being easier to see rather than just tapping on the specific category.

I won't be changing the layout of the welcome and login screens as they are pretty streamlined. The home screen as well is fairly simple as well and has an ease of use. Furthermore the account balance screen is also well.
